COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Disappointment and misunderstanding may be avoided by persons purchasing property after April 1st, to inquire at the Town Office as to the status of the taxes on the property, whether there are unpaid taxes for prior years or outstanding tax liens. Cases occasionally arise where the purchaser thinks that the seller will be paying the taxes and there even may be a verbal agreement to that effect. Then all of a sudden the purchaser finds that there are unpaid taxes that he may have to pay to protect his property from a tax lien, even though he received a warranty deed and he accepted the deed to the property free of all encumbrances, the seller once having sold the property before the tax bills were out might be of the opinion that his obligation ceased when he gave the deed, and this has been known to happen.

The best method if there is an agreement on the current years taxes is to have the agreement written into the deed and then there will be no question. If there are back taxes or tax liens the purchaser should see that they are paid before or at the time the transaction is completed.

Money was appropriated at the town meeting for repairs to strengthen the Fire Station floor and install two flushes for the Community Room. This work is now in progress.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Sunday River Skiway Ends Pleasing Season

Sunday River Skiway has shut down the lift after completing a most successful first year of operation. Although up to three feet of snow still remained on the mountain and the area was still well covered, the directors this week decided to cease operations for the current season. They had every reason to feel pleased with the year. The number of skiers visiting the area grew steadily, each month showing an increase in business over the previous month, the word slowly spreading about the area with the powder snow and no wait for the lift line. The longest wait found all winter was one of twelve minutes during a brief lull on Washington's Birthday weekend.

Also singled out for praise were the spectator facilities. A wide enclosed balcony and open sun deck in the lodge offered a place for the non-skating members of the family to enjoy a picture window view of the slopes, and the parking area was designed so that the main open slope is in full view of those in parked autos. Perhaps the feature most commented on, however, was the friendly atmosphere of the area.

Plans for next year include additional grading and seeding so that the early snows will afford skiing over the entire area. Another large open slope will be cut, starting at the top of the present lift and running almost a mile down the north face of the area. No official decision has as yet been reached as to whether the proposed construction of another lift to the snowfields on the summit of the mountain will be started this summer.

Brewster, a resident of Bethel and a Science Teacher at Gould Academy, is one of 20 secondary school science and mathematics teachers to be awarded a stipend to attend the Radiation Biology Institute to be sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation at Bowdoin College from June 27 to August 6.

The course of study at the Institute will emphasize techniques in the use of isotopes and the effects of radiation on living organisms. About a third of the time will be devoted to the study of atomic and nuclear structure, energy relations, and decay processes. The hazards involved in experimentation with radioactive materials will be presented, and the participants will be indoctrinated in the precautions which must be taken to avoid disaster.

The great majority of people are eager and willing to live "by the law." For this reason we are able to live lives which are reasonably quiet and peaceful. The Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds us that traffic law is no different from other law. If we are to enjoy any freedom from fear of death or injury on the highway, we must all obey the motor vehicle laws which were passed to protect us all.

MAN'S RECIPE

SUNNY ACRES BAKED BEANS

I do not live to eat—as some of you intimate in the letters that come to Sunny Acres. However, there is a genuine grain of truth in what George Bernard Shaw said, "There is no love sincerer than the love of food." Few things in life can give pleasure three times a day, day after day, year after year.

I have to watch the calories too, but I feel that it means one can appreciate good food all the more. Food habits in this nation are changing in revolutionary style. Today one can buy excellent frozen and canned foods. We are learning more about nutrition all the time. However, this one-horse, hillside farmer still believes we should eat baked beans for Saturday supper and for Sunday breakfast. Saturday night have them juicy and on a slice of buttered white bread. For Sunday breakfast, have the beans crisp and nutty, topped up in the spider and served with toasted brown bread and apple jelly.

This recipe, my own, has created as much interest, I think, as any in Country Flavor Cookbook. One pound beans, soaked overnight. In the morning, pour off the water, cover with fresh water and bring to a boil. As the water comes to a boil, add one half teaspoon soda. Boil the beans gently until the skins are loose when you blow on them.

Put beans in pot. In a quart of hot water, mix one half cup white sugar, one teaspoon ginger, one and one fourth teaspoons mustard, one eighth teaspoon pepper, one fourth cup butter or margarine, one fourth teaspoon parsley flakes, one fourth teaspoon thyme, two teaspoons salt, three tablespoons molasses, one tablespoon maple syrup or maple-flavored syrup.

Peel this over the beans. Add enough more hot water to cover. Bake at 275 for 10 hours, adding hot water if necessary from time to time. Before you

COUNTRY FLAVOR

APRIL SHOWERS

The countryman is properly impressed by awesome statistics and is glad to know that moisture in and about our planet is constant. It is probably helpful to know that some 340 cubic miles of rain fall on our earth each 24 hours. But as climatologists point out, the difficulty is that the rainfall is uneven. Some areas have too much and become tropical jungles; others have too little and become deserts. There are days in the fourth month when April showers make a man think his region is destined for tropical conditions. He thinks that science should devise a method of holding some of the drenching showers until drought times in July and August.

An April shower is a fickle thing. A day starts pleasantly with blue sky and patches of fair-weather clouds. As one works along mending fence in the welcome warmth, he thinks that at last true spring has arrived.

Suddenly he notices that fields and hillsides are shadowed. A gray curtain is pulled across the sky. A man knows what is coming and just as he gets back to the barn, the shower breaks. The rain comes down in pelting, cold sheets. Rivulets flow around the silo at the end of the barn. For a few minutes some of that 340 cubic miles of water soaks the countryside.

Then the rain suddenly stops and the dark curtain is lifted. The sun appears and golden light paints the land in a symphony of soft brown hues. In his rubber boots, a countryman plods across the field to the pasture fence again. An April shower has passed. It could be discouraging, but one knows that April wouldn't be April without these tempesty moments.

write that indignant letter, try this formula and see what you think. There is no law that requires you to use salt pork in baked beans.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, April 14

Read Matthew 5:43-48.
The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love. (Jeremiah 31:3.)

Many years ago I took a little friend from another country to see that wonder of God's creation—Niagara Falls. He was terrified when he saw the rushing waters. He refused to go near. So we left the Falls and went for a walk.

A few hours later we returned to the same place. He was willing to go a little closer. As he looked at the water, his remark was: "It hasn't all gone over yet."

That remark reminded me of God's constant love and care—so much He has given and sent out, and still enough yet for everyone of us. Divine love is constant by day and by night.

Our shortcomings are as rocks and our sins as barriers, but the love of God flows around us and over us and goes with us all the way.

PRAYER: For Thy love which never changes, our Father, we thank Thee. Establish us in faith in Christ so that we are no longer turned with the tide of everyday living. Keep us, we pray, always in Thy care and in the knowledge that Thy great love sent Jesus Christ to be our Saviour. Forgive us our sins and redeem us through Him, who suffered that we might have life eternal. For His sake, Amen.

Thought For The Day
God always cares for us; it is to our shame when we reject Him. —Mary K. Ricker (Ont.)

EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN TO END SUNDAY

PARIS.

Late contributors to Easter Seals may send their donations to their local chairmen if they prefer, rather than direct to the Pine Tree Society, Bethel.

For nearly a quarter of a century the Pine Tree Society, a non-profit organization made up of Maine citizens, has fought crippling in Maine, providing special medical care, rehabilitation services, physical, occupational and speech therapy the year 'round at its Hyde Memorial Rehabilitation Hospital in Bethel for Maine's crippled men, women and children; as well as health-building vacations every summer at Pine Tree Camp for Crippled Children, Rome, Maine. Under the new Maine Demonstration Project at Hyde Hospital the injured worker is assisted in job placement after pre-vocational evaluation and testing.

Easter Seal dollars also buy crutches, braces, wheelchairs, and other special equipment, and with 90% of the funds from Easter Seals remaining here in Maine, the public is urged to visit Hyde Hospital and Pine Tree Fund Camp and see for themselves how their Easter Seal dollars are at work aiding Maine's crippled children and adults.

Weekly Stock Market Round-Up

Prepared by the Investment Research Department of Hempfl, Noyes & Co., 11 Broad Street, New York 6, N. Y.
Members of the New York Stock Exchange

April 13, 1960

The Stock Market

The stock market has displayed several characteristics in the past month although the volume, generally speaking, has remained rather small. It would appear that investors have yet to recover from the nervousness which they suffered in the early part of the year. In one respect, the unusually bad weather experienced in the past month could have deterred many of the stock and economic indices. A late Easter has also delayed spring retail sales to some extent. The market is now accepting news in a much more reasonable fashion. Outlets in steel production were apparently discouraged by the action of the steel stocks, while good news for certain specific companies, such as Gulf Oil, was rapidly reflected in rising stock prices. The decline in short term interest rates is also a favorable factor. While the recent market recovery could experience a technical correction, we are inclined to believe it will be of short duration and that improving economic statistics will support higher stock prices. We advise continued purchases, on balance, especially of those stocks which have outperformed the market thus far.

We believe that those companies engaged in the manufacture of microwave equipment will be among the truly great growth companies of the coming decade. The estimated growth rate for microwave companies is nearly twice that estimated for electronics in general.

and the growth trend in electronics is very sharp.

While it is an impossible task to forecast the growth of any microwave company dependent upon the growth of microwave systems, we predict the microwave and microwave equipment manufacturers to the systems manufacturers. The largest systems companies are not integrated and usually subcontract over 50% of their prime work. While subcontract work entails substantial risks, once a product is developed, produced and has gained acceptance it can become a cash item and sold on a fixed price basis with a considerably better margin of profit.

As was the case with the semiconductor companies, in our weekly investment letter of March 15th, we believe the most rewarding investment will be in companies most heavily concentrated in the microwave industry. Or to put it more simply, we foresee the greatest rewards coming from the stocks of those companies offering the greatest percentage participation in the microwave field.

In line with this thinking, we consider Varian Associates, Eitel-McCullough, Hewlett-Packard and PRR attractive for accounts seeking aggressive long term capital gains.

THE STORY BEHIND THE WATER CONSERVATION STAMP

UNITED STATES POSTAGE 4c

The fact that water is a vital and limiting natural resource is dramatized by the latest in a series of conservation commemorative postage stamps—the 4-cent water conservation stamp to be issued in Washington, D.C., on April 18, 1960.

No other resource so directly affects the welfare, comfort, and happiness of all the people.

Our national and personal need for water for domestic use, for sanitation, for manufacture, and for agriculture is multiplied each year by our expanding population.

Without water, soil cannot produce the food and fiber needed to nourish and clothe our rapidly increasing population.

More and more people each year are turning to water and water sports for leisure-time enjoyment.

But there is just so much water. The earth's water supply remains constant. We can meet these vital and rising demands for water only by better use of what we have—by reducing needless waste and pollution—by protecting the watershed upon which our water falls as rain and snow—by finding more efficient ways for its use.

Most problems of water shortage, poor water, or floods track back directly to the land.

Whether or not the land in each watershed is eroded or is mantled by protective cover of grass and trees—whether there are small dams and other flood-preventing structures along the channels—whether steps have been taken to reduce pollution—these determine in large measure whether water supplies are ample and reliable.

It is because of the dependence of water supply on water

At 12 to 1:30 p.m., chicken dinner, dinner speaker was Mrs. Ruth Pennell, Guidance Department, State Department of Education, Augusta. A tour of the high school. At 2 p.m. reports of workshops, and announcement of state officers. State officers are: Pres., Thomas Ryan, Westbrook High School; Vice President, James Church, Mexico High School; Corresponding Sec., Sandra Calderwood, Union High; Sec., Ann Owen, Scarborough High; and Treasurer, Elizabeth Emerson, St. Joseph's Academy.

Antique Car Makes 2000 Mile Trek

You can't blame motorists on the highways between Washington, D.C. and Wyoming if they do a double take when Mr. and Mrs. Mel Collier of Casper, Wyo. drive by in their "new" car. This antique vehicle is a handsome 1911 Premier touring sedan Mr. Collier won in a "Vote for Tyrex" survey on tire cord preference conducted among car dealers during the annual National Automobile Dealers' Assn. convention in Washington, D.C. Here William Dalton, president of Tyrex Inc., the voluntary non-profit association of five major manufacturers of Tyrex tire cord which donated the antique car, presents the keys to Mr. and Mrs. Collier.

erashed that the commemorative stamp will be formally issued at the 7th National Watershed Congress in the Nation's capital on April 18th.

The new water resources commemorative stamp will be available in local post offices on April 19th, the day following its official issuance.

The unique two-panel stamp portrays a closeup view of a drop of water falling from a leaf, which symbolizes watershed influences upon water supply. This design leads the eye to a right-hand panel depicting an actual watershed panorama. A town and farm in the foreground are dependent on the upstream watershed with its well-managed farm and forest lands and small dams for flood prevention and water storage.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE

The Pilgrim Fellowship and Women's Fellowship of the West Parish Congregational Church are combining their efforts in conducting a public Sunrise Service, weather permitting, at the pinnacle of Paradise Road, Sunday morning at 6:00 a. m. Following the service, all are invited to a coffee and doughnut hour in the Church Dining Room.

In previous years it has been thought that the Sunrise Service was for young people only. Under the joint efforts of both the Pilgrim Fellowship and the Women's Fellowship, it is hoped that adults will also find it inspirational on this special Sunday to rise at an early hour and share in the worship service.

The panoramic beauty of Bethel seen from this high vantage point, is in itself an experience worth the effort of early rising.

In case of stormy weather, the service will be held in Garland Chapel.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks are extended to all who so generously donated clothing and many household furnishings in our time of need so that we are again living in our own home. Mr. and Mrs. Corry Donney and family
